South-South cooperation is an inter-governmental organization promoting reproductive health and rights, sharing and transfer of technology in the field of reproductive health and rights, environmental sustainability, and sustainable development. PPD is a Southern-led, Southern-run organization that works to promote South-South cooperation globally and establish the PPD’s institutionalization of south-south cooperation (SSC) in the field of reproductive health and rights.

Since its inception, PPD has contributed significantly to tackling the unfinished agenda of the International Conference on Population and Development (ICPD) and the Program of Action. The PPD’s SRHR champions have been influential in shaping policies and programs.

Strategic Interventions:

1. Advocacy & policy development.
   - Evidence-based advocacy for policies, programs, and budgets.
2. Health and population dynamics.
   - Influence the global policy dialogues.
3. Capacity development and technical cooperation.
   - Facilitate need-based, demand-driven training.
4. Knowledge management.
   - Build and deepen cooperation.
5. Partnerships and relationships.
   - Contribute to and influence the global policy dialogue, face-to-face and virtually, including support for PPD’s training and partner linkages.

South-South Framework of Interventions:

- Partnership and relationship building:
  - Sharing of information, experiences, and expertise.
  - Strengthening of Southern voices for SRHR.
  - Transfer of knowledge and South-South replication of good practices.
- Building the South-South capacity:
  - South-south framework for interventions.
  - Organizations, capital flows, and developmental cooperation.

What We Do – Offering, Experience, and Knowledge:

Strengthening Voices of the South for RH, Population and Development

- Aim:
  - Reduce infant and maternal morbidity and mortality;
  - Improve reproductive health, including sexual and reproductive health (SRH) of women and girls;
  - Reduce poverty and development inequities.

Priority areas and program interventions

- Recommendations for elevated development needs:
  - Knowledge management
demand-driven.
  - Facilitate needs-based, programme interventions.
  - Replication of best practices in population dynamics.

Mission of the PPD:

- To contribute to and influence the global policy dialogues, face-to-face and virtually, including support for PPD’s training and partner linkages.

Organizational structures

- Secretariat:
  - The Secretariat is responsible for the management of the PPD’s activities.
  - It includes the Program of Action (PPA) and the Secretariat’s permanent office building.

PPD’s institutionalization of South-South cooperation:

- South Replication of Good Practices
  - PPD has capitalized on the wealth of South-South cooperation initiatives and experiences.
  - PPD’s SRHR champions have been influential in shaping policies and programs.

Partners in Population and Development (PPD)

- Who We Are
  - A Southern-led, Southern-run organization working to build and deepen cooperation.
  - PPD is a Southern-led, Southern-run organization working to build and deepen cooperation.

What We Do – Offering, Experience, and Knowledge

- Strengthening Voices of the South for RH, Population and Development
  - PPD’s SRHR champions have been influential in shaping policies and programs.
  - PPD’s SRHR champions have been influential in shaping policies and programs.

PPD’s Institutionalization of South-South Cooperation

- Partners in Population and Development (PPD)
  - A Southern-led, Southern-run organization working to build and deepen cooperation.
  - PPD is a Southern-led, Southern-run organization working to build and deepen cooperation.
The health staff provides counseling and policy framework. China drew on its own to learn how healthcare facilities provided member. Coalition (RHSC) as one of its founding creation of Reproductive Health Supply reproductive health commodity security. Result- This South-South Partnership needed resources from other member countries. Working through the PPD China contributed US$ 2 million in 2016 in addition to US$ 50,000 for the construction work. The Government of China contributed for Global South South Cooperation. Capital City of Dhaka for building its own a piece of land of sqft 27835 in the field of population and development. South Africa and India contributed US$ 143,250 per annum for the scholarship other countries. Approximately US$ 1 million and reproductive health field, the development by Government of China. PPD has also brought faith-based areas. Using a cascade training leaders across the four countries Bangladesh, China, India, and Thailand. Using a cascade training religious leaders from Bangladesh and the Islamic Centre for Population Studies and Research (ICPSR) of Ahsanullah University developed the training curriculum and trained religious leaders from Bangladesh and Islamic Centre for Population Studies and Research. Through the program governments of Southern leaders in the population and development. PPD embodies stronger partnership for strengthening country level programs in the field of population and development. PPD works with networks of like-minded ‘like-minded’ key stakeholders in the field of population and development. PPD’s scholarships program is a high and significant program for South-South channel that allows professionals to develop new long-term, masters-level training for over 400 professionals from PPD member countries, making South- South channel a highly significant and effective mechanism. This South-South Partnership enjoys country to country learning and building of reproductive health leaders in the region. PPD member countries share experiences in increasing the accessibility of reproductive health services. This South-South partnership enjoys the advantage of fostering healthy living in their own countries.

Stronger and sustainable institutional partnership for global SSC in the field of RH, population health and development.

PPD embodies stronger partnership for building the gaps in global SSC agenda and achieving the post-2015 agenda. PPD is a mechanism of integrity, commitment and mobilization of the southern countries to assist more than 1 billion of global population living in PPD countries living for healthy and sustainable living for all. The member countries are the most resource base for building construction work and ensure the sustainability of the partnerships and strengthening country level programs in the field of population and development. PPD is a unique global Inter-Governmental organization committed to ensure transparency and accountability in its work and operations.

Promoting new generation managers and leaders for SHH and Population Programs

- PPD has offered training program and scholarships to over 1000 professionals from PPD member countries. The Government of China contributed 100,000 and Bangladesh US$ 2500. The 2015 Board meeting approved the four priority areas in population dynamics & national policy. Adolescent sexual health and rights, expanded, long-term, reversers contraceptive methods, and training and support of young professionals working as reproductive health and population educators. The PPD scholarship program is a high and significant program for South-South channel that allows professionals to develop new long-term, masters-level training for over 400 professionals from PPD member countries, making South-South channel a highly significant and effective mechanism.

PPD Governance Structure

- PPD is governed by a Board which is comprised of a Cabinet Minister or their representatives, appointed by each member country. Currently, the Board has three members: Dr. Li Bin from China and H.E. Jagat Prakash Nadda from India (Cabinet Minister or their representative) and H.E. Emrah Yenicioz from Turkey (a senior government official (at the level of a Joint Secretary or Director). They provide political strength and leadership in prioritizing key country context and in elaborating the programming. The Board also appoints a President (Cabinet Minister or his/her designate), a Vice Chair (Cabinet Minister or his/her designate) and a Senior Vice Chair (Cabinet Minister or his/her designate). They provide financial, technical and executive support to the Board.

- In each Member Country, PPD has a National Task Force South-South Cooperation (NTFSSC) that makes an inclusive membership of high ranked key stakeholders in the Southern countries to form a National Task Force South-South Cooperation (NTFSSC) for South-South Cooperation.

- PPD works with 23 Partner Institutions (PIs) on sectoral, national, regional, training and research institutions in Asia, Africa, Middle East and Latin America. These institutions are reformulated to strengthen reproductive health leaders in the region.

- PPD’s scholarship program is an international program that is funded by Government of China.

- PPD’s scholarships program is a high and significant program for South-South channel that allows professionals to develop new long-term, masters-level training for over 400 professionals from PPD member countries.

- PPD has also brought faith-based areas. Using a cascade training religious leaders from Bangladesh and the Islamic Centre for Population Studies and Research. Through the program governments of Southern leaders in the population and development. PPD embodies stronger partnership for strengthening country level programs in the field of population and development. PPD works with networks of like-minded ‘like-minded’ key stakeholders in the field of population and development. PPD’s scholarships program is a high and significant program for South-South channel that allows professionals to develop new long-term, masters-level training for over 400 professionals from PPD member countries, making South-South channel a highly significant and effective mechanism.

- PPD works with 23 Partner Institutions (PIs) on sectoral, national, regional, training and research institutions in Asia, Africa, Middle East and Latin America. These institutions are reformulated to strengthen reproductive health leaders in the region.

- PPD’s scholarship program is an international program that is funded by Government of China.

- PPD has also brought faith-based areas. Using a cascade training religious leaders from Bangladesh and the Islamic Centre for Population Studies and Research. Through the program governments of Southern leaders in the population and development. PPD embodies stronger partnership for strengthening country level programs in the field of population and development. PPD works with networks of like-minded ‘like-minded’ key stakeholders in the field of population and development. PPD’s scholarships program is a high and significant program for South-South channel that allows professionals to develop new long-term, masters-level training for over 400 professionals from PPD member countries, making South-South channel a highly significant and effective mechanism.

- PPD has also brought faith-based areas. Using a cascade training religious leaders from Bangladesh and the Islamic Centre for Population Studies and Research. Through the program governments of Southern leaders in the population and development. PPD embodies stronger partnership for strengthening country level programs in the field of population and development. PPD works with networks of like-minded ‘like-minded’ key stakeholders in the field of population and development. PPD’s scholarships program is a high and significant program for South-South channel that allows professionals to develop new long-term, masters-level training for over 400 professionals from PPD member countries, making South-South channel a highly significant and effective mechanism.

- PPD has also brought faith-based areas. Using a cascade training religious leaders from Bangladesh and the Islamic Centre for Population Studies and Research. Through the program governments of Southern leaders in the population and development. PPD embodies stronger partnership for strengthening country level programs in the field of population and development. PPD works with networks of like-minded ‘like-minded’ key stakeholders in the field of population and development. PPD’s scholarships program is a high and significant program for South-South channel that allows professionals to develop new long-term, masters-level training for over 400 professionals from PPD member countries, making South-South channel a highly significant and effective mechanism.

- PPD has also brought faith-based areas. Using a cascade training religious leaders from Bangladesh and the Islamic Centre for Population Studies and Research. Through the program governments of Southern leaders in the population and development. PPD embodies stronger partnership for strengthening country level programs in the field of population and development. PPD works with networks of like-minded ‘like-minded’ key stakeholders in the field of population and development. PPD’s scholarships program is a high and significant program for South-South channel that allows professionals to develop new long-term, masters-level training for over 400 professionals from PPD member countries, making South-South channel a highly significant and effective mechanism.